HEALTH WORK ACCOMPLISHED DURING 1921

Only Five Cases of Smallpox in Two and a Half Years

DECLINE IN DEATHS

Review Given of Various Phrases of Health Work—Report Most Gratifying to Department

With this month we close the calendar year of 1921, which has indeed been remarkable for its low mortality and morbidity rate.

I think it is worthy of special notice that this rate for the principal contagious and infectious diseases—such as typhoid, diphtheria, scarlet fever, pneumonia, tuberculosis, smallpox, etc.—has been steadily reduced since the organization of your present health department on July 1st, 1919.

Let us take the two principal serious contagious diseases of childhood and compare the rate for the last three years—

Diphtheria—1919, 27 cases; 1920, 14 cases; 1921, 4 cases.

Scarlet Fever—1919, 21 cases; 1920, 8 cases; 1921, 4 cases.

You might think that this low rate for last year would hold good for most other places. On the contrary, diphtheria and scarlet fever have been generally prevalent throughout the United States during 1921, and particularly in the sections surrounding this City, including Washington. On December 24th, according to official report, there were 143 cases of diphtheria and 97 cases of scarlet fever in the city of Washington, yet we did not have a single case of either in Alexandria.

During two and a half years your present health department has had charge, we have had only five cases of smallpox within our city limits, yet during the previous two and a half years, there were a total of 26 cases.

I would like to mention right here a point that is well worth noting, as it is one of the means by which we measure the efficiency of any health department. That is, we have held every case of smallpox just where it started, and prevented any other cases from developing after the first was located. This also holds good for our four diphtheria and four scarlet fever cases during 1921. We prevented all secondary infections.

Again, let us compare the number of deaths from communicable, and, therefore, preventable diseases, during the past three years. By communicable diseases, I mean the various diseases that are caused by macterial infection, such as typhoid fever, pneumonia, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, etc. The record stands as follows:

1920—81 deaths from communicable diseases.

1921—63 deaths from communicable diseases.

You will note that the past year shows a very marked decline in the number of deaths from preventable diseases, yet it is no more than could be expected when we take into consideration the vast amount of disease prevention work accomplished by your health department during the above period.

Such work does not always, nlor should it be expected to reduce the morbidity and mortality rate in a few months, or even a year's time, but if such preventive work is honestly and efficiently carried out, is is bound to show sooner or later, not only in the prevention of such sickness and suffering, but the saving of human life as well.

I am now firmly convinced, that after a practical test, covering a period of two and a half years, a large majority of the good people of Alexandria fully believe that the money expended in maintaining a full-time, modern health department, has brought back returns in the prevention of sickness and saving of human life, as can never be measured by dollars and cents.

This matter is worth thoughtful consideration by all.

General Food And Milk Inspection

During December 120 lbs. of turkeys were condemned and destroyed, also 1,420 lbs. of tuberculous meat.

During the last six months of 1921, we condemned and destroyed 5,575 lbs. of tuberculous meat, besides a large amount of fish, pork, mutton, livers, rabbits, chickens and turkeys.

A total of 1,452 inspections of restaurants, meat markets and other food and drink handling establishments have been made during the six months period.

All of this unhealthful and dangerous quantity of foodstuff would have been sold to our citizens but for the constant inspection work carried on by your health department.

During the same period we made 120 inspections of dairy farms, and

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Washington Jan. 10.—Secretary of State Hughes was asked today whether another plenary session of the Arms Conference was in sight.

"Very much in sight," replied the Secretary with a broad grin, "but we haven't located it as yet."

Which probably means that there will be no open session of the conference delegates until the middle of the week any how and probably later.

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Ship-building and Dry Dock Company, and an expert on the building and operating of ships, has asked President Harding to call a "friendly" conference of the maritime nations of the world in order that the problems respecting the merchant marine carrying trade may be fully discussed. Mr. Ferguson believes that the United States is not receiving its just share of world trade both with respect to our import and export business. He feels that it such a conference were called it would do much to clear the atmosphere and result in great benefit not only to the United States but to other mercantile nations as well.

Despite the well known opposition to Senatorial "blocs" on the part of President Harding, his wishes were not respected by the Senatorial steering Committee when by unanimous vote they named Senator Porter J. McCumber, of North Dakota, to be chairman of the powerful Committee on Finance as the successor to the late Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania. There is no question but that McCumber's selection was hard for the eastern members to agree to, but the old seniority rule which they have sponsored for years and years forced his choice. The real leadership of the Committee, however, will fall to Senator Watson, of Indiana, and Senator Smoot of Utah. Watson will be the organizer and Smoot the brains of the Committee. McCumber's leadership will be nominal.

Calling God to witness that he has never been conscious of having committed a dishonorable or corrupt act in connection with his election to the Senate in 1918, Senator Truman H. Newberry made a dramatic defense of his right to sit as a member of the Senate from the State of Michigan. He stated that he never had an idea of the amount of money expended to secure his election until after his friends had filed their expense accounts.

This was the first word Senator Newberry had ever had to say in regard to his election, which was followed by a criminal prosecution that caused him to be convicted and sentenced to prison although the Supreme Court later reversed the verdict and freed him.

Today President Harding was booked to make an address at the White House to the members of the Southern Tariff Association which is holding a two day's session here. Despite the fact that most of the Southern States are Democratic, the Tariff Association is in Washington urging the Finance Committee to enact permanent tariff legislation which will preserve American industry against destructive foreign competition.

A West Virginia Democratic Congresswoman is a possible result of woman suffrage activities in that state. Mrs. W. G. Brown, formerly Izetta Jewel, the actress who married Representative Brown of the Second District of West Virginia, is the possible national legislator. Mrs. Brown's husband died in office some years ago. His father also was a West Virginia Congressman.

Mrs. Brown has been popular in society in Washington, particularly among the Congressional set. She has been active in suffrage work and although she has not announced her candidacy her friends are boosting it. They say she has a good chance to restore the office to the Brown family if she will only consent to enter the race.

"I have heard nothing from the Civil Service Commission with respect to the certification of the three names who stood highest on the recent examination for postmaster at Alexandria," said Representative Rascom Slemp, of Virginia, to the Gazette correspondent today. "Until I am notified of the result of this examination I cannot do anything about the matter. In the meantime the present postmaster will continue on the job."

Without going into the case Police Justice Duvall promptly dismissed the warrant. Officers Durrer and Magner he said have action in a civil court. There is no law on the statute books he said for such an offense. Payne was represented by Attorney Frank Stuart.

TREATY'S TERM IS FIXED AT FIFTEEN YEARS

Provisions of Naval Treaty Are Scrutinized by Delegations

AIRCRAFT UNDECIDED

Six Methods for Scrapping of War-Ships Doomed Under the Agreement

Washington, Jan. 10.—The tentative text of a 15-year treaty for the limitation of naval armament and a 10-year naval holiday among the five principal naval powers of the world yesterday went under the separate scrutiny of the delegations of the United States, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan.

The delegations met each in its own headquarters to consider the first draft of the treaty. The heads of the delegations are to meet to compare notes today, and it is thought that Thursday or Friday will see a plenary session at which the treaty will be given to the world.

Previously, hte Armament Limitations Committee composed of the delegations of the five powers, had in substance accepted the report of an expert subcommittee on aircraft limitation, deciding it is impracticable at present to limit aircraft, but agreeing to designate a commission which will proceed to revise the rules of war to apply them to new agencies of warfare.

The five power treaty text which has been formulated by the legal experts has passed through the hands of naval advisers and has been submitted to the delegations with notations of points on which the technicians are not finally agreed is composed of 25 articles and does not exceed 3,000 words in length

The treaty is to be in force until 1937 and is subject to suspension only in case of naval warfare. It provides for a naval holiday of 10 years, with exceptions made in favor of France and Italy. The United States, England and Japan are to refrain from all capital ship building until 1932, except for the ships the British are permitted to build and the two the United States is permitted to complete to balance Japanese retention of the Mutsu.

France and Italy, however, because of the age of much of their naval equipment, are permitted each to lay down one capital ship in 1927 and to start construction on another apiece in 1929.

In addition, because none of their ships has armament comprising guns larger than 12-inch caliber and corresponding defensive armor, France and Italy are to be allowed at once to improve their existing capital ships so that they may mount 16-inch guns, the limit agreed upon for armament in the future, and to equip them for defense against guns that large.

An annex to the treaty provides that scrapping of existing and partly completed ships which are to be junked by the naval limitation agreement may be accomplished by six methods—sinking, breaking up, conversion to commercial use, conversion to harbor use for auxiliary purposes, use as targets or conversion for use as gunnery training ships.

Scrapping must begin immediately. That is, the ships listed for scrapping must be made at once unfit for war use.

According to the terms set forth in the tentative draft, the world is to experience in the next 10 years only this limited construction of capital ships, instead of a continuation of the costly competition which was in prospect until the conference was convened at Washington:

"United States, no construction until 1932, except completion of the Colorado and the Washington, now almost finished.

"British Empire, no construction until 1932, except construction of two new superdreadnaughts.

Japan no construction until 1932.

France no construction until 1927, when one ship may be laid down; then until 1929, when another may be laid down; and then no more until 1932.

Italy no construction until 1927, when one ship may be laid down; then until 1929, when another may be laid down; and the no more until 1932

Those are the terms of the holiday from construction of capital fighting ships ,the weapons of offensive naval warfare General Replacement construction is not to start until 1932.

J. S. Oliver Here to See That Alexandria is Represented in State Affair

J. S. Oliver, of Richmond, is in this city in the interest of the Virginia historical pageant which will be shown in Richmond the week of May 22 and while here he will make efforts to see that this city will be well represented in the pageant. Mr. Oliver expects to remain in Alexandria for the next ten days. He is state press chairman of the Travelers' Association, which organization was responsible for the movement to have a state historical pageant.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

SENATE

Senator Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, in defending his election over Henry Ford, spoke before the Senate for an hour, denying any knowledge of sums spent in the campaign. He was severely cross-questioned by Senator Walsh, of Montana, while Senators Edge, of New Jersey; Sterling, of South Dakota, and others defended him. The vote of G. W. Pepper, the new Senator from Pennsylvania, who succeeded the late Senator Penrose, is counted upon by Senator Newberry's supporters in the final vote, which will be taken today or tomorrow.

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, was elected chairman of the finance committee, succeeding Senator Penrose in the most coveted and powerful chairmanship of the Senate.

A poll of the sub-committee of the Judiciary committee, before which hearings were held on the bill proposing to bar from the mails newspapers that publish racing or other "gambling" news, indicated that the bill would not be reported out of committee.

The following nominations were submitted to the Senate: Charles Holden, to be collector of revenue in Michigan; W. F. Comly, to be customs appraiser at New York. A number of postmasters were nominated, including the following in Virginia: South Boston, Lees Wolfe; Stony Creek, E. H. Croshaw; Quicksburg, W. A. Wine; Troutville, J. W. Layman.

THE HOUSE

Chairman Madden, Illinois, of the appropriations committee, informed the House that federal employees would be provided with the $240 bonus as usual this year, despite the omission of this item from the budget estimates.

After a 15-minute session the House adjourned, out of respect for the Hawaiian delegate, whose death was announced.

DIRECTORS HEAR REPORTS

Committee to Meet With Roads Association in Richmond

Submit Report on Proposed Ferry Between Alexandria and Maryland Side of River

An interesting meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday aftrnoon at 3:30 o'clock which was largely attended. The board notes with pleasure the report of the committee, W. A. Smoot, J. M. Duncan, K. W. Ogden, E. C. Dunn and G. H. Evans, that the construction of Leesburg Pike from Alexandria to Donaldson's store had been commenced.

Messers. R. E. Knight, O. H. Kirk, and G. H. Evans, the committee appointed in connection with the installation of a ferry from Alexandria to the Maryland shore opposite this city, also reported progress.

A committee was appointed and funds appropriated to send a committee to Richmond to meet with the Virginia Good Roads Association in the interest of good roads and to look after the interests of our citizens in the improvement of the Little River turnpike from Alexandria to Fairfax Courthouse. The State Highway Commission met in the Chamber of Commerce on December 28 and investigated the matter thoroughly, mention of which has already been published in the Gazette, and a committee, composed of Carroll Pierce, A. D. Brockett, J. M. Duncan, C. W. King, C. W. Fletcher, Col. J. Y. Williams and John W. May was appointed to keep in touch with developments.

From an item from Winchester appearing in another column of the Gazette it appears that the Commissioners are much in favor of the improvement of the pike from Alexandria to Winchester, and the early construction of the road is apparent, although it is noted that no mention is made of the work being done between Alexandria and Fairfax.

Several organization matters of interest to the Chamber were introduced and placed in proper channels for consideration by the various committees concerned.

EX-FIREMEN GIVE ANNUAL CELEBRATION

MEET AT FRIENDSHIP

The annual celebration of the original Relief Truck and Engine Company was held last night in the house of the Friendship Veterans' Fire Association on South Alfred street. About eighty members attended, including a number of visitors together with several members of the city council The assembly room was prettily decorated for the event. Prior to calling the assemblage together there were a number of songs by the ex-fire men. J. Edward Shinn, president of the company presided and introduced the speakers.

On behalf of the company Mr. Shinn presented Kenneth W. Ogden, former chief, with a box of cigars and on behalf of the company John H. Trimyer presented Mr. Shinn with a handsome smoking set, and Mr. Shinn on behalf of the company presented a prize to Frank C. Glasgow, Mr. Glasgow's prize consisted of a milk bottle and nipple and when it was opened caused considerable merriment among the guests. All of the recipients made short speeches of thanks.

Among those who made addresses were: Corporation Attorney H. Noel Garner, M. R. Norris, president of the Friendship Veterans' Fire Association; Councilman Leopold Ruben; J. Sid Douglas, president of the original Reliance Fire Company No. 5; Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the chamber of commerce; John H Trimyer, former president of the Relief Truck and Engine Company No. 1; Frank C. Glasgow, Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison, Councilman John M. Reed, Councilman Claude W. Fletcher, Kenneth W. Ogden, former fire chief.

Afterward the members sat down to a banquet served at the Monticelle Hotel which was greatly enjoyed. The tables were prettily decorated.

President Shinn in his opening remarks stated that the Relief Truck and Engine Company had not disbanded and has on its roster between 75 and 100 men who are ready to serve.

An address was made by Corporation attorney H. Noel Garner who expressed pleasure at being present.

Mr. Garner praised former Chief Ogden.

Mr. R. Norris, president of the Friendship Veterans' Fire Company, when called on gave a number of interesting reminiscences of fire fighting in the olden days when he told of some of the leaders in the old Relief Company.

Councilman Leopold Ruben recalled the old days in the fire department when he was a member of the old Relief Hook and Ladder Company and he presented to the association an old badge of the company which will be placed among its relics.

J. Sid Douglas, president of the original Reliance Fire Company No. 5, made a short address in which he expressed pleasure at being present.

Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the chamber of commerce, declared that an organization of this character is sacred to all and he expressed hope that the organization would not grow into decay.

Nothing he declared is accomplished in these days without organization and he expressed hope that its members would strive to upbuild the city and that the company would flourish and grow each year.

"Of all of the organizations that I have the honor of being a member there is none I prize my association with more than being a member of this company," said John H. Trimyer, former president of the Relief Truck and Engine Company. The speaker recalled many fires that he had attended, and paid a glowing tribute to the firemen and the motives that actuated them. They are simply doing their work as a matter of duty he declared.

A short talk was made by Frank C. Glasgow after he was presented with a prize by the company.

Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison said the firemen should be regarded as a great conservator of the community in which they live. Men he declared need not only physical but moral courage as well in fighting fires. A number of incidents in connection with the great Baltimore fire were recalled by the speaker.

Councilman John M. Reed said that as far as was within his power he would be only too glad to do anything he could for the men.

Councilman Claude W. Fletcher thanked the firemen for the invitation to be present and read a poem entitled "Greater Alexandria," published in The Gazette last night.

Kenneth W. Ogden, former fire chief in an address declared that the ex-firemen fought for what they thought was right. He said they still contend that a speed of twenty-five miles an hour is inadequate, espcially to reach the outlying territory. Mr. Ogden stated he was not a candidate for the office of chief, but said that if elected he would serve. He also said he understood that the names of Edward J. McDermott and Edward Howell would be presented to council at its meeting Tuesday night and he expressed hope that city council would elect a man.

In fires the former chief told of the great responsibility resting on the chief and of the necessity for a quick decision The purpose of the holding together of the old organization shows 100 per cent manhood he said.

Mr. Ogden was given a big ovation

NEWBERRY ON GRILL AS TO CAMPAIGN FUND

Michigan Senator Denies Knowledge of Money Spent for his Election

WILLIAMS DOUBTS

Mississippi Senator Asks Is There a Man In Senate Who Believes Paper Filed.

Washington, Jan 10.—Exhibiting little emotion, Senator Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan came back to the Senate today, after months of absence, and defended his title to a seat in that body.

He talked for about half an hour, reading a prepared address. Then for an equal time he submitted to questions by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana who was selected by the Newberry opposition to cross examine him. To many questions he answered, "I do not know."

The vote, which will decide whether Mr. Newberry shall retain the seat which was awardade him after the notable contest with Henry Ford, is not expected until Friday.

There was a dramatic turn when Senator Williams, swinging on his heel and facing half a dozen of his colleagues asked if they believed the Newberry statement, filed with the Senate, in which Mr. Newberry said he had no knowledge of contributions and expenditures beyond the figures named.

"Is there a man within sound of my voice who believes it?" Senator Williams asked. "It is a horrible thing to accuse a gentleman of perjury."

Then turning to half the Senators in the chamber and asking each one if he believed it, without receiving so much as a nod, the Mississippi Senator banged his desk and shouted: "You know it's as false as hell."

The Michigan Senator said he stood before the Senate with a "clear conscience" and that he intended to talk fully and honestly as "in the presence of God."

He entered a broad denial that he knew personally of the expenditures in his behalf in the Michigan campaign. He had done nothing, he said that he regarded as "unlawful, dishonorable or corrupt."

The cross examination of Senator Walsh was not as vigorous as certain Newberry critics would have had it. However, the Michigan Senator said he would submit to reasonable question, but not to heckling or improper examination, and it was apparent that Senator Walsh did not want to go too far and bring a pro-Newberry reaction.

Senator Newberry spoke without dramatic intent or effect. He spoke as a business man might read a report at a meeting of the board of directors.

"Go ahead and shoot," he said to Senator Walsh as the latter began his questioning.

The Senate galleries were jammed, with many standing in the corridors outside. Smartly gowned women were in the majority. Senator Newberry's sons two of them, were in a front row, and joined their father after he left the chamber.

Outside of the set defense of Senator Newberry, which he read without intrruption, the colloquy between Senators Newberry and Walsh was the main part of the Senatorial performance today. Five other speeches were made during the day, Frammell, Williams and Heflin speaking against Newberry and Edge and Sterling in his favor.

How Senator Newberry came through the trying ordeal was viewed for the most part through partisan eyes. There appeared to be no doubt that his Republican frineds were jubilant. They rushed toward him as he edged his way from the crowded chamber offering congratulations. Many Democrats later asserted that Senator Williams had about expressed their view when he characterized the Michigan Senator's defense as "full of evasion."

VIRGINIA SCHOOL SYSTEM

We publish in today's Gazette an extract from the columns of our esteemed contemporary, the Loudoun Times, which is apparently compiled from a recent report of the secretary of the State Board of Education. As noted in the article referred to, there have been various changes in the order of rank in city and county school systems from last year. Elizabeth City County jumps from eighth rank to first in the list of one hundred counties. Arlington County goes from third to second place. Loudoun County from ninth to fourth. Franklin County ranked lowest last year and has not advanced.

Among the twenty cities, Winchester takes first place this year, which Norfolk held last year. Our own city ranks nineteenth this year as against eighteenth last year. The city of Bristol ranks twentieth this year, as against sixteenth last year.

This information is especially interesting in view of the Gazette's editorial of yesterday on our public schools.

BOOST ALEXANDRIA

The Gazette was recently asked for literature published by our Chamber of Commerce relative to Alexandria. We regret to say that the only data we were able to procure in printed form seemed to be contained in the automobile postcard published by that body last year. We noticed that in our editorial columns at the time it was published, and were hopeful that it was merely the first in a series to be sowed broadcast.

We would respectfully suggest to the Chamber of Commerce that it might be well to prepare a number of pamphlets touching on the various advantages of Alexandria and arrange for their wide distribution. Certainly this city is unique among all the cities of the land. Not only in its unrivalled historic importance, but in its unsurpassed geographic and industrial advantages. There are various distinctive features, each worthy of special mention which would conveniently call for a separate brochure.

More About Our Restaurant

THE story of WALLIS' meal miracles begins in orchard and field. Apples that tempt with their inroasted juiciness and sweet potatoes, golden rich, typify our rigorous regard for your table joy. Each apple is chosen for its roasting quality and unblemished perfection; it is bruiselessly handled and baked in an individual dish that conserves its native juices. Just as exacting is our choice of the "sweets" you eat roasted, candied or grilled. They come—every one—from the food-famed Eastern Shore.

We should build
Our roads to stay.

They'll not have to Ask the question
Here's the bond

FOR GREATER ALEXANDRIA

Mrs. T. Clifton Howard Gives The Gazette Her Views

Mrs. Howard Advocates More and Better Playgrounds For The Children

More playgrounds is the thing Mrs. T. Clifton Howard thinks will go a long way toward making Alexandria a greater Alexandria. Mrs. Howard is president of the Parent-Teachers' Association and chairman of the Playgrounds' Committee. She tells the Gazette reporter that:

"Education without recreation is a very poor thing, but if it can be made so that while the children are playing they may, at the same time unconsciously, be absorbing knowledge, this is education plus recreation, and the child only knows that he is playing. With the playground properly supervised there can be no end to the good that can be accomplished; games can be taught that teach the child fair play, teach him to respect the rights of others, and in fact there is a game to teach the child anything that he should be taught.

"The playground may be compared to a little democracy with the teacher as the chief executive. The children are taught to take care of themselves in a more respectable manner than if they were left to learn the same thing in some other place—the street for instance. Alexandria has always been deficient in its manner of caring for its children and no greater mistake than this can be made, for in the years to come these children will become men and women and will carry with them the things learned in childhood.

"I sincerely hope and think that there is in sight, means for opening three playgrounds in the early spring. The advantages of a playground may be clearly illustrated by the things accomplished by the Friends' Playground from its opening last March until it closed last week for the winter. Hundreds of children who had never known what organized play was before are now experts in some game, or at least much better off than they would have been had they been left free to roam the streets as they had done in the pre-playground days.

"Yes, if Alexandria is to become much greater it had better equip itself with more playgrounds so that the children will be better physically and morally, fit to help make it greater and to enjoy its greatness and to keep it great. And, as Dr. Simon said, 'If America is to take the moral lead, the young should be educated for the responsibility.'

"I think that this proposed increase in the Alexandria playgrounds will do much for the realization of a bigger and a Greater Alexandria."

TUESDAY, JAN. 10, 1814

Of this place has always been ready to contribute its share in every benevolent purpose, and we are happy to hear that the profits of tomorrow evening are designed for the benefit of the indigent sufferers in the late fire at Portsmouth.

Meetings have been held and contributions made in most of the Northern towns, for the humane purpose of relieving the suffering from the late fire at Portsmouth. It is hoped and expected that the citizens of Alexandria will not be backward in lending their aid for the relief of their Eastern brethern. Exposed themselves to the same awful visitation which has reduced the unfortunate people of Portsmouth to want and misery, they should remember that they are "in the wilderness" and give, as those who know not how soon they may be compelled to receive.

World Peace System

Federal Council of Churches of Christ In America Announces Platform

Washington, Jan. 8.—America must co operate in the establishment of a world peace system.

This in brief is the international platform of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. It has created considerable interest in Washington because of the large constituency it represents and because of its far reaching scope.

The platform includes co operation by the United States in the effective operation of the International Court of Justice and for the making by America of adeqquate pledges and satisfactory guarantees that this country will take its full share of responsibility in international tasks and obligations.

This paltform which was unanimously adopted by the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches a few days ago has been presented now not noly to the American Delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armament, but also to the foreign delegates. It calls for world wide co operation by the churches and copies of it are already on their way to the religious leaders of other countries.

The statement with the matter out lining the sentiment of the churches was also presened to both houses of Congress through Speaker Gillette and Vice President Coolidge. Senator McKller brought the document up on the floor of the Senate and had it inserted in the Congressional Record. It has undoubtedly made a deep impression in Washington as it is realized that the statement is probably more representative of the sober thought of the American people than any other that has been issued in recent months. One government official whose task it is to weigh public opinion stated that it is regarded as the most authoritative statement showing the trend of American public opinion that has yet been presented.

The statement which is entitled "The General Obligation of America to Cooperate in the Establishment of a World Peace System" is as follows:

We believe that the government of the United States should associate itself promptly with the other nations of the world to establish permanent institutions for the formation of international law, for the effective operation of the International Court of Justice and boards of arbitration and conciliation, for the assurance to law abiding and peace loving nations of security from attack and spoliation by any lawless and aggressive nation and for the provision of fair treatmnt and equal economic opportunity to all individual citizens of law abiding and peace loving nations.

We believe that only by these institutions and agencies will it be possible and practicable to abolish the menace to the entire human race of submarines, of aeroplanes, and of poison gases.

We believe, further, that the reconstruction of the shattered institutions of production of exchange, of trade, and of credit, all so essential to the peace and prosperity of the nations, is possible only when the feverish fears and preparations for possible war are completely abandoned because of the successful functioning of the institutions of an effective world peace system.

FIRST, that practically every important nation in the world has committed itself to the idea of a permanent organization of the nations for world peace, and many of them have associated themselves in a League of Nations for that purpose.

SECOND, that President Harding has repeatedly committed himself and his administration to a permanent association of the nations for world peace renewed in his recent address at the opening of the Washington Conference in the memorable words that the United States co-operating with other nations, desires, "To do that nobler thing which no nation can do alone."

We believe that the time has come for American public opinion to express unmistakably to Congress its emphatic support of President Harding and of the Administration in making adequate pledges and in giving satisfactory guarantees that the United States will take its full share of responsibility in international tasks and obligations.

We advocate the foregoing policy, remembering the numerous actions of the Federal Council from its very first organization in 1908 and repeated at practically every annual meeting since, urging the creation of a permannt organization of the nations for world peace, which policy has also been reatedly exressed in numberless actions of our constituent bodies during the past decade.

We reject with indignation a policy of taking all possible economic advantages in all parts of the world while shirking international responsibilities and obligations.

Weak Arches Strengthened by Cantilever Exercise

If your arches are in good condition, keep them so by exercise! If you have "weak arches" strengthen them—by exercise. Wear Cantilever Shoes.

The arch of Cantilever Shoes is flexible like the arch of your foot. Every step you take in Cantilever Shoes, the arch of your foot flexes just as nature desires. The arch muscles are permitted healthful exercise, which prevents or corrects weak or fallen arches, inasmuch as the arch bones require good muscles and ligaments to hold them up. The circulation is free because there is no binding effect from Cantilever Shoes. They follow the lines of the foot.

Good circulation and the simple exercise of walking have strengthened many feet troubled with weak arches During the process of restoring the strength to the foot, Cantilever Shoes give a gentle, comfortable and satisfactory support The flexible shank and the cleverly curved instep draw up when you lace the shoes and hold the arch bones in normal position, but not restraining the foot's natural action.

Nature does the rest. Try a pair of Cantilever Shoes tomorrow if your feet are suffering or get tired easily. Cantilever comfort and support will give you much happiness.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. WM. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH THEM?

Give them away—throw them away—sell them to old shoe dealers? Not a bit of it, dear lady. Bring them here and watch us transform those old, dilapidated, shapeless, apparently useless shoes into the finest looking footwear you ever saw. Don't believe we can do it? It will cost you nothing if we don't prove it to you.

HEALTH WORK ACCOMPLISHED

I think the few facts noted above should convince any thinking person of the importance of this branch of work conducted by your health department, and yet it only represents one section of our daily activities, which are fully noted in our detailed monthly reports.

General Sanitary Work

During the past six months, we abated 734 nuisances, made 106 sewer connections; closed 101 privy wells; investigated 460 complaints; issued 645 orders to correct unsanitary conditions; made 204 special sanitary inspections, together with the other work along these lines more fully noted in the monthly reports.

Health Department Laboratory

Our tests of the city water supply proved it to be free from contamination during the month.

In the past six months, we have made a total of 2,330 examinations and tests of various kinds in our laboratory.

This will give some little idea of the large amount of work we have to take care of in that section of our department.

Venereal Clinic.

34 cases of disease were treated during the month, and 322 treatments were given in our Venereal Clinic.

During the past six months we have treated 281 patients and given a total of 2,523 treatments.

I might here state that the above mentioned 281 cases are a hundred per cent more than all the cases of typhoid, pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and malaria combined, that have been reported to this department for the same period. This would indicate the importance of conducting our Venereal Clinic, for the simple reason that Venereal diseases exceed in numbers effected, all other communicable diseases combined. And it must be remembered that Venereal disease menace not only this generation, but future generations as well.

Public Clinic For Advice And Treatment Of The City Poor.

We gave 107 free treatments to poor people of our city, during the month of December.

During the past six months, we have given a total of 673 free treatments. Many of the patients were visited at their houses and treated there, and when required, also received the attention of our nurse, together with such medicine as each case required.

The poor of our city are well looked after by your health department, as the above statement fully indicates.

Public Health Nurse.

During the past six months, our nurse has made a total of 366 nursing and instructive visits; spent 144 afternoons assisting in our clinic; assisted in the examination of 535 school children; vaccinated 209 school and other children, and performed the various other duties assigned to her by the Health Officer, as occasion required. She is held ready for any emergency that may arise.

The month of December, 1921 shows a much lower general disease rate than for the years of 1918, 1919 and 1920. It is very pleasing to me to be able to make this statement public, for the state of the public health is of very personal interest to every citizen of our City, or at least it should be.

The general sanitary condition of our City at the present time is very good. And as above noted, the general health of the city is remarkably good.

This pleasing state of affairs is certainly very gratifying to your health department, and I am sure it will prove even more so to the citizens of Alexandria.

LOUIS E. FOULKS, M. D.,
City Health Officer and Ass't.
Collaborating Epidemiologist,
U. S. Public Health Service.

Upholds War Department

Washington, Jan. 4.—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals, in a decision handed down today, upheld the contention of the War Department that the President may delegate to other officials his right of review of any action of the "plucking board" as set forth in the Army Reorganization act.

The lower courts, which were reversed, had directed issuance of a writ of mandamus compelling reinstatement of cerain officers whose retirement by the "plucking board" had been approved by the Secretary of War, acting for the President.

Attorneys for the officers concerned in the cases before the local courts announced today their intention to appeal at once to the United States Supreme Court. The interests of scores of army officers have been adversely affected by the procedure complained of, the statement said.

Second Gentleman (enviously.)—"Lucky man! You own your house?"

First Gentleman—"No, I rent a room."

HISTORIC CABIN

In "Tol'able David," which Associated First National Pictures, Inc., is releasing as Richard Barthelmess' first starring vehicle, at the Richmond Theatre, one of the most famous historic spots of the Civil War, is shown. It is Mosby's cabin in which the famous Confederate guerilla leader took refuge after the battle of Winchester. The story is picturesquely told in the famous poem of "Sheridan Twenty Miles Away."

Tradition in the Virginia mountains to this day insists that any man desiring to escape cannot be captured in this territory.

Union soldiers hot on the trail of Mosby, came to the cabin where he had papsed for a bite to eat. Without hesitation he climbed into the chimney. Searching the place they failed to find him, as the hot chimney seemed inaccessible to them as a hiding place.

Daniel Boone, the famous pioneer of Kentucky, is also credited with having stopped at the cabin, "D. Boone" being carved in aged, worn letters on a log. The cabin is one hundred and fifty years old.

Police Court Grist

Cases disposed of today in the police court follow:

Six colored men arrested at midnight last night by Sergt. Campbell and Policemen Lawrence Padgett and Walker, charged with gambling, fined $5 each; colored woman arrested by the same officers, charged with vagrancy, acquitted.

ALABAMA SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM TOTALS $3,294,000

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 10.—Approximately $3,294,000 is involved in the completion of normal school building, rural consolidated and city school buildings now under course of erection or authorized throughout the state of Alabama, according to John W. Abercrombie, superintendent of the Department of Education.

Three normal sschools are now under way representing an expenditure of $12,000 and another has been authorized at a cost of $50,000. Rural consolidated school buildings on which work has been started in the various counties will necessitate the expenditure of about $1,184,000 representing over 40 projects, each of which will cost over $5,000.

In the towns and cities work is proceeding on seven projects entailing an expenditure of $590,000, and nine other authorized programs for buildings of this class will cost approximately $1,500,000, the largest expenditure being in Birmingham

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday School of Del Ray, held a very delightful "Birthday Party" in the church last Friday, when one hundred or more members of the school who had celebrated their birthday some time during the past year were present as guests. A pleasing program was rendered by Mrs. Trotter, who sang; Mrs. Sansbury, who recited; Mr. Thompson who sang and Mr. Arthur Pierce from Washington, who delighted the guests with three or four numbers with encores comprising songs and negro dialect. Mr. George Carr was the accompanist for all. A very pretty feature of the evening was the lowering of lights in the church while 26 candles burned brightly on a huge white frosted "cake," one candle for each year of the Sunday School. At this time the pastor, Rev. J. R. Wood, made a short and appropriate address of congratulation and good wishes for the future health, happiness and welfare of the guests and participants.

A misstatement was made in the last issue of the "Live News" to the effect that Mrs. John Howdershell and baby, from Lincolnia, Va. spent last week in Del Ray with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Willis L. Wayts, on Bellefont Avenue. As Mr. and Mrs. Howdershell have no children, this correction is offered with apologies.

Seven blind men went to "see" an elephant. One of them, bumping into the great beast's side, said, "Here is a creature resembling a wall." Another feeling the trunk, likened the elephant to a serpent; another, touching a tusk, announced that the animal resembled a spear; and still another, grasping an ear, compared the elephant to a large leaf. The one who got hold of the tail likened it to a rope, while he who embraced a leg thought of a tree and he who crawled over the back declared that an elephant resembled a hill.

Folks---

MEMORY training is an art—sometimes a most elusive one and too often we are prone to "entwine our arms around the greased cable of profound thought and to sink into the abyss of forgetfulness"—that's why I am going to give the nail which we started driving yesterday another small tap — just to brighten your memory and to keep you from forgetting the good news that was told you in this space yesterday.

Thus, we perform two things — one, we give you a lesson in the art of memory - training, namely, Learn a thing so well at first that it is bound to stick; two, we are keeping you alive to a wonderful opportunity —and, we might add another, through your help we clear our shelves for that stock that will arrive in two weeks.

Do you remember that new Spring Stock we told you about?—(There's where memory plays another important part.)

So, again we remind you that

CALOMEL SALIVATES EVEN WHEN CAREFUL

Treacherous Drug Can Not Be Trusted and Next Dose may start Trouble

Calomel is dangerous. It may salivate you and make you suffer fearfully from soreness of gums, tenderness of jaws and teeth, swollen tongue and excessive saliva dribbling from the mouth. Don't trust calomel. It is mercury; quicksilver.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomen. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salviate.
